And in the memories of her own children Sewanee grows ever more and more beautiful, for to them she is in truth the Mecca, the Paradise; the Promised Land, and they declare with one accord that the mystery of Sewanee is the eternal mystery of Love.

— Sarah Barnwell Elliot, Cap & Gown, 1895

The academic department considers itself par excellence the flower of the University.

— Cap & Gown, 1896

Among the many opportunities for enjoying one's self which summer in Sewanee affords, was the little folk's concert held in Forensic Hall some days ago. The little folks had been carefully drilled for some time previous, and each individual part was performed with a spirit and correctness which made the whole a grand success.

— Cap & Gown, 1886

What Sewanee stands for — The education of the whole man . . . His body, in a physical environment and training almost ideal.

— Cap & Gown, 1936

Ring loud, ye chimes of Breslin Tower!
Proclaim the day, proclaim the hour
Of fair Sewanee's fame.
Soon fifty years shall leave their trace
On her uncaptured, beaming fall,
And fifty more shall take their place
To magnify her name.

— Cap & Gown, 1907

College Spirit? Well, I'm glad to say we can't claim a thing on any of the departments there. That doesn't go by departments. It's instilled into a man as soon as he hits the Mountain. Must be in the atmosphere. If you haven't felt it already, better pack your duds and haul back home . . . win or lose, we're always behind the team pushing. That's the Sewanee way.

— Cap & Gown, 1909

In Memoriam Bayly Turlington, Professor of Classical Languages

As scholar and teacher, he was inspiring, imaginative and demanding. His trademark was an excellence evidenced by a meticulous and persevering attention to detail. His offers of praise or approval after difficult work made the work itself worthwhile, and the student's understanding and appreciation of language and literature deepened under the guidance of this wise mentor.

As friend, his wit and charm were often conveyed through digressions and tales. These enlivened both class and office conversations and made talks at home or in a quiet corner of a party a pleasure rarely matched. Bayly Turlington was a distinguished scholar within and outside the confines of this University, but above all else he was ever a gentleman — a gentle man, whose opinion we esteemed, whose humor we cherished, and whose friendship we treasured. He is sorely missed. It is fitting and proper to dedicate this book to the memory of a man who made Sewanee his life's work.
